

You have the right to receive a “Good Faith Estimate” explaining how much your medical care will cost

Under the law, health care providers are required to give patients who don’t have insurance (self-pay) or who are not using insurance an estimate of the bill for medical items and services.

- You have the right to receive a Good Faith Estimate, upon your request, for the total expected cost of any non-emergency items or services.
- Make sure your health care provider gives you a Good Faith Estimate in writing at least 1 business day before your medical service or item. You can also ask your health care provider for a Good Faith Estimate before you schedule a service or item.
- If you receive a bill that is at least $400 more than your Good Faith Estimate, you can dispute the bill.
- Make sure to save a copy of your Good Faith Estimate
